ABSTRACT

This study is a critical study of Jack Sequeira's "actual" substitution view on the death of Christ. Since one's understanding of the death of Christ is inseparable from his/her understating of the person of Christ, this study try to analyze Sequeira's understanding of the person of Christ (Christology) and of the death of Christ on the cross (Crossology). Then, based on such analysis, this study provides critical evaluations of his views. Keywords: Atonement, Christology, Crossology, Substitutionary Death Of Christ, "Actual" Substitutionary Death Of Christ, Human Nature Of Christ
